East Lothian Community Hospital

Construction Update Invitation

23 February 2017, 3pm til 5pm

Roodlands Hospital Dining Room

High Tea

As local residents or interested public and partners you will be well aware of the construction works that commenced last October on the East Lothian Community Hospital. The first phase of the works are almost complete which will see new traffic management within the current Roodlands Hospital and a car park opening at the North end of the site. We would like to invite you along to a very informal afternoon tea to talk with us about future phases of construction, update you on particular elements relating to the surrounding area and strands of engagement work commencing in the future. The Project Team will all be there and we would be able to take any comments from you and answer any questions you may have.
